- Do you want to learn how to make presentations?
- Do you want to learn to speak before an audience?

KSTMC Introduction Kit

The Importance of Public Speaking

Are you afraid to stand and speak your mind?

You are not alone! Public speaking is the greatest fear a person may have.

On the other hand, to speak well in public is an asset.

If you speak well, you will have a better chance of climbing up the corporate ladder.

The rationale behind is simple.

If you speak well, you will be able to communicate more effectively at work with your boss, your associates, your subordinates and even your customers.

In our everyday life, good communication skills help get our messages across effectively.

Even talking to your children, giving lectures to a group, or delivering your business presentations, competent speakers capture the attention of their audience and convey their point of views effectively.

If you are able to speak well, your communications at home with your family members will be more fun and productive.

How To Overcome Your Fear of Public Speaking?

Speaking with confidence is really useful. However, not everyone can do it.

You may have read books on how to conquer the fear of public speaking.

You may have attended courses or workshops on how to improve your communication skills.

However, you lack a platform for practice.

Practice is the key to helping you improve in public speaking.

"I have been a member of Kowloon-Singapore Toastmasters Club for several years. I have learnt to overcome the fear of public speaking. I am no longer so fearful speaking in front of an audience. Kowloon-Singapore Toastmasters Club is one of the friendliest clubs in Singapore. The members are very helpful!"

What activities are included in a Toastmasters meeting?

A typical Toastmasters meeting includes the following segments:

- Prepared speeches: Speakers will present their prepared speeches in accordance with the educational manuals designed by Toastmasters International. Usually time allowed for the speeches are of 5 to 7 minutes.
- Evaluation: Feedback will be given on the prepared speeches presented by the speakers to highlight to them their strengths and areas for improvement.
- Table Topics: This is the time to practise impromptu speaking, i.e. thinking on your feet without preparation.
- Ah Counter's Report: Toastmasters is not just about speaking. It is also about listening. An "Ah Counter" is appointed at every meeting to pick up pause fillers such as "um", "er", "you know", etc. uttered by the participants during the meeting.
- Language Evaluation: The "Language Evaluator" or "Grammarian" listens carefully and highlights to the audience the strengths and areas for improvement of the language used by the speech presenters.

What speech projects are there for me to work on?

In the Basic Competent Communication Manual, there are ten speech projects:

Project 1 – The Ice Breaker (4 – 6 minutes)

- To begin speaking before an audience.
- To discover speaking skills you already have and skills that need some attention.

Project 2 – Organize Your Speech (5 – 7 minutes)

- Select an appropriate outline which allows listeners to easily follow and understand your speech.
- Make your message clear, with supporting material directly contributing to that message.

Tips for Public Speaking

10 Tips For Successful Public Speaking from Toastmasters International

Feeling some nervousness before giving a speech is natural and healthy. It shows you care about doing well. But, too much nervousness can be detrimental. Here's how you can control your nervousness and make effective, memorable presentations:

1. Know your material. Pick a topic you are interested in. Know more about it than you include in your speech. Use humor, personal stories and conversational language – that way you won't easily forget what to say.
2. Practise. Practise. Practise! Rehearse out loud with all equipment you plan on using. Revise as necessary. Work to control filler words; Practice, pause and breathe. Practice with a timer and allow time for the unexpected.
3. Know the audience. Greet some of the audience members as they arrive. It's easier to speak to a group of friends than to strangers.
4. Know the room. Arrive early, walk around the speaking area and practice using the microphone and any visual aids.
5. Relax. Begin by addressing the audience. It buys you time and calms your nerves. Pause, smile and count to three before saying anything. ("One one-thousand, two one-thousand, three one-thousand. Pause. Begin.") Transform nervous energy into enthusiasm.
6. Visualize yourself giving your speech. Imagine yourself speaking, your voice loud, clear and confident. Visualize the audience clapping – it will boost your confidence.
7. Realize that people want you to succeed. Audiences want you to be interesting, stimulating, informative and entertaining. They're rooting for you.
8. Don't apologize for any nervousness or problem – the audience probably never noticed it.
9. Concentrate on the message – not the medium. Focus your attention away from your own anxieties and concentrate on your message and your audience.
10. Gain experience. Mainly, your speech should represent you – as an authority and as a person. Experience builds confidence, which is the key to effective speaking. A Toastmasters club can provide the experience you need in a safe and friendly environment.
